

STOP PRESS - BUTTERPARK

The ideas for Butterpark, which the council has been working on with a private developer, Dove Project, Brook Housing plus local councillors to deliver a housing project on the former residential care home site are now moving forward as Devon County Council has declared the site as surplus, and offered it to the council at a discounted rate to deliver our plans. Through a combination of conversion of part of the existing property and new build housing it will provide much-needed private rented housing, six rent-to-buy houses (via Rent Plus) plus six flats and a training house for people with moderate learning disabilities. Detailed plans, plus a great deal of consultation, will be happening by the summer this year before plans are submitted for planning permission.
